Ludwig Von Drake's Spectrum Song Sudoku 500 Points Possible

As Professor Ludwig Von Drake once said to no one in particular: "The Spectrum Song celebrates the harmony and magic of colors. You can see light all around you, but hidden in the light is a multi-color treasure." Maybe you have heard him sing his famous "Spectrum Song"... it begins with this lyric: "Red, yellow, green, red, blue, blue, blue, red, purple, green, yellow, orange, red, red..."

To solve this puzzle, your team will have to solve a special version of SUDOKU, with the help of that very lyric. Throughout the day, you must keep an eye out as you navigate the playing area to find the colors RED, ORANGE, YELLOW, GREEN, BLUE, PURPLE, BLACK, WHITE and MULITI-COLORED used in various text. You are looking for three-letter snippets of words, words which are one of those 9 colors mentioned. The three-letter snippets you are looking for are as follows:

mex it's ORT San Tas Ala AQU hop CHE

You will need to determine the colors of these snippets to complete the Sudoku puzzle on the next page. Yes, you are playing Sudoku with colors! (These snippets will NOT be found inside of stores or on merchandise or menus.) Once you find the words and determine the colors of each, you can use the colored squares or crayons (available at the game hub) to complete the Sudoku puzzle.

After you have solved the puzzle, you will use Professor Von Ludwig's Spectrum Song to uncover the question you must answer. Using the lyric "Red, yellow, green, red, blue, blue, blue, red, purple, green, yellow, orange, red, red," you will move through the Sudoku puzzle, stopping on the necessary color, writing down the three letters in the bottom of the box, and moving on to the next color in the lyric.

You will move left to right, top to bottom, always moving forward. If you've already passed the color you need in one row, you will need to move to the row below it. Once you have moved through the puzzle and gathered the letters in the boxes according to the lyric, you should be able to discover a question that must be answered.

That's No Constellation...

400 Points Possible

First, find section C59 in the Esplanade. Amongst the bricks, Luke and Leia left a word on a specific brick to give you your starting point. The secret word, which was once a secret to even Luke and Leia, now you need to find the word that describes them amongst the bricks. Once you find their secret word on a brick, place the constellation overlay on the sector map. (Both included separately in this envelope.) Align the biggest star in the constellation on that particular brick.

Determine which bricks are represented in the rest of the constellation. Write down each star number that you find, i.e. C-123, C- 235, etc. Once you have all of the stars, you will consult the Sector Map. There you must find each star number, and write down the star's name. That name can then be unscrambled to form another word. (Do not use the biggest star in the constellation overlay; that is merely your anchor point for the map.) String together all of the unscrambled words, beginning with the lowest star value to the highest, and you will have the info you need to determine the planetary system where the Death Star is located.

Elsa's Frozen Storytelling

100 Points Possible

In this physical challenge Elsa has a treat for you...maybe a trick. Your team will have to race against the clock to rack up points in Elsa's Frozen Storytelling.

You will have to play this game at the game hub.

One person on your team will be the guesser, and the other members will be the storytellers.

But you only get one frozen picture from the storytellers to tell the story.

The storytellers will draw six slips of paper. Each will have a Disney film listed on it...from live-action to animated, classics to modern.

The storytellers will have three minutes to brainstorm on a single frozen picture for each of the six titles that they can act out for the guesser. You will only get credit for up to FOUR correct answers so you can "pass" on two if needed.

Your guesser will then have only two minutes to answer all of the frozen pictures. Each correct answer is worth 25 points.

Plein Air Simple

300 Points Possible

Take the images of the Plein Air works that Rapunzel has Van Gogh-ized, and determine the name of the pieces by exploring the Grand Californian's public spaces. Rapunzel gave you ten different titles, but not all of the artwork has titles. Some of these are not right.

Once you find the real artwork that is represented on the images found here, determine if that original has a title included on the work. If it does, cross out the title found underneath the picture below. When you find all the artwork, and cross out the titles you found, you will use all of the remaining incorrect titles to solve the puzzle.

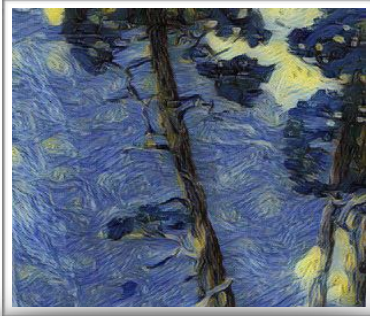

Starting with the first incorrect title (working from left to right, top to bottom) fill in the numbered spaces below by counting the appropriate number of letters. Cross off the letters as you use them. Continue counting (starting over at 1 on the next letter) and move through all the available titles to fill in the spaces. You may have to go through the titles several times, always crossing off the letters you use and always continuing from your last stop.
